Lady Storm Split Weekend Classic

The Lady Storm of Tidewater Community College hosted their inaugural "Lady Storm Classic" on Saturday, November 7th and Sunday, November 8th. The Lady Storm left the weekend's event with a 1-1 record and good lessons learned. TCC fell to Wake Tech on Saturday afternoon 62-52. Paced by Courtney Collins twelve first half points, TCC took a 31-27 lead into the locker room for halftime. However, the first five minutes of the second half would prove to be the beginning of the end for the Lady Storm. Wake Tech "stormed" out of the break and quickly overcame the four point deficit. They would hold on to their lead and ultimately defeat the Lady Storm.

With the lessons learned in game one behind them, the Lady Storm started out very strong on Sunday afternoon against the JV team from Mount Olive College. TCC took control in the first half with a quick 21-4 lead. From there, they never looked back. Led again by sophomores Courtney Collins and Danielle Brown the Lady Storm rode the wave of victory! The storm moves on to La Plata, MD this Thursday as they take on the College of Southern Maryland.
