A HISTORY OF SACCR

SACCR began as one of three regional organizations of AERA'S Special Interest Groups for Community College Research. Fred Snyder, Research Director for Virginia Community Colleges, coordinated the activities for the regional groups through AERA for three years. The organizational meeting for the Southeastern group was held in Atlanta in January 1971.

The constitution was the same as the one used by the Community College Special Interest Group for Community College Research of AERA. A new constitution and by-laws for the organization were provisionally approved at the business meeting in Williamsburg in 1978.

The organization was called by many names until 1981 when the name was officially changed to the Southeastern Association of Community College Researchers (SACCR). Some of the names used in the past were:

1. American Educational Research Association/Special Interest Group

Southeast Region of Community/Junior College Researchers
(AERA/SIG-SRCJCR);

2. American Educational Research Association/Special Interest Group
Southern Association of Community College Researchers (AERA/SIG-SACCR);
3. American Educational Research Association/ Community College
Special Interest Group Southeast Region (AERA/CCSIG-SR);
4. Southeastern Region Community College Research Group (SRCCRG);
5. Southeastern Association of Community College Researchers (SACCR);
6. Southeastern Region Community College Research Special Interest Group (SRCCR/SIG).

The first annual conference was held in Atlanta in 1972. The 1973 and 1974 conferences were also held in Atlanta. Although it was originally intended that the conference would always meet in Atlanta, it was later decided that the conference should be held in various parts of the South in order to achieve greater conference participation. In 1975, the fourth conference was moved to the Center for Continuing Education at Appalachian State University, Boone, North Carolina. The site for the fifth annual conference was the Host International Hotel, Tampa, Florida. In 1977, the sixth annual conference was held in New Orleans at the Braniff Place Hotel. The Cascades Meeting Center in Williamsburg, Virginia, was the scene for the seventh annual conference.

In 1978 all of the regional AERA special interest groups became independent with the creation of AERA's division J - Post Secondary Education. With the exception of SACCR all those groups have now disbanded.

The annual SACCR meeting was held for the first time west of the Mississippi in 1980 in San Antonio, Texas. Texas hospitality, dinner on the riverboat and Dr. Richardson's participation in the entire conference made this an outstanding meeting.

The association became more formally organized in 1981 with the adoption of a new constitution. The constitution provided that the designation of the presiding officer be changed from Chair to President beginning with the 1981-82 officers. It also established a progressive sequence in the office of the President. The President should serve a three year term: first as President-elect and Program Chair, then as President and finally as Past President, to provide continuity for the organization.

The 1981 conference was held in Orlando. Prior to this time keynote speakers had been nationally recognized writers and researchers in the field of community college education. It was decided at this time that there should be a greater focus on administrative needs within the institution and that community college presidents should become active participants in the program both as keynote speakers and as session chairmen. The conference site moved north to Nashville, Tennessee, in 1982, where members had an opportunity to participate in another outstanding program and spend family time at Opryland.

A constant thread running through each of the annual meetings has been the loyalty, comradeship, and congeniality of the membership. Program Chairs have been successful in planning well-balanced programs to include professionally stimulating presentations, discussion groups, and family fun activities.

Sun, surf, sand, and professional development were the key elements for one of SACCR's best attended conferences, in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina in 1983. The Holiday Inn on Pensacola Beach, Florida, was the scene of the 1984 conference. Special group sessions on microcomputers and lunch by pool and ocean were conference highlights.

In 1985 the conference returned to a previous meeting site, Charleston, South Carolina. A highlight of the 1985 conference was a re-assessment of the goals and future direction of the association by the Past Presidents of SACCR.

The 1986 Conference returned to the 1981 meeting site -- Orlando, Florida. Highlights of the conference included a well-organized program with excellent papers, workshops and panel discussions. A new feature was the Awards Breakfast, at which the SACCR Outstanding Paper Award was presented to Berman Johnson.

As a member of AERA's Special Interest Group, State and Regional Educational Research Associations, SACCR has an opportunity to present an outstanding paper at the annual meeting of AERA. Beginning with the 1986 award, all SACCR Outstanding Paper Award winners have presented their papers at AERA.

The association has continued to evolve as a recognized organization for research and planning. During the period between 1987 and 1990 several elected officers resigned after accepting new positions outside the organization's scope of membership; consequently, other officers accepted additional responsibilities and continued to move the organization forward.

In 1987, the Executive Board initiated mid-year board meetings to provide the planning time needed for the increasing demands of an expanded conference structure. To further expand membership opportunities, the association added the option of institutional membership in 1989.

A special feature of the annual conference has been to provide free training workshops to those who register for the conference. A conference Awards Luncheon has been held in recent years to recognize those who have made significant contributions to the organization. The membership has continued to reinforce the desire to hold the annual conference at resort locations that feature a family environment. Callaway Gardens (GA), Myrtle Beach (SC), and Stone Mountain (GA) were locations for the 1989, 1990, and 1991 conferences, respectively, with the 20th Anniversary of SACCR being celebrated in 1991.

In 1992 and 1993 the conference returned to previous meeting locations: Orlando (1981 site) and New Orleans (1977 site). In 1993, for the first time, SACCR had an opportunity to select an outstanding paper for presentation at the Association for Institutional Research, in addition to the paper for AERA. Since that time two papers have been selected each year for presentation at these meetings.

In 1995 the association returned to Asheville, North Carolina in the Great Smokey Mountains. Members continued to exercise their skill of attending all the meeting sessions as well as pursuing the many amenities of the location, and in Asheville there were many: the Grove Park Inn, the Biltmore Estate and Biltmore Village, just to name a few.

The 1994 and 1996 meetings were held in locations new to the organization- Savannah, Georgia, and Bay Point Resort in Panama City, Florida. Members enjoyed the shops along the river in Savannah as well as a trolley tour of the city. Bountiful meals were enjoyed at Ms. Wilkes boarding house. The 25th anniversary of the association was celebrated with a dinner cruise of the bay aboard the Lady Anderson. Arthur Cohen, the first keynote speaker for the organization, returned to present the keynote for the 25th anniversary. At the anniversary meeting the constitution was revised to add two Members at Large to the Executive Board and to give all members an opportunity to vote on officers by having the election through a mail ballot. Prior to this time the election was held at the annual business meeting and only those people attending the conference had the opportunity to vote for officers.

The 1997 and 1998 conferences again returned to previous sites - New Orleans (1977 and 1993) and Callaway Gardens (1989). In addition to the conference, there was much to do. In New Orleans, the aquarium, night life in the French Quarter, decisions on restaurants, swamp cruises, cooking schools, and dinner and dancing at the Mulates, a Cajun restaurant on the river, were just a few of the many opportunities for members to enjoy the city. At Callaway it was hiking, golfing, bicycling, the beach, the butterfly house, and the Florida

State Flying High Circus. A special feature of the 1997 and 1998 conferences was the Annual SACCR Raffle on the last day of the conference. Those attending the meeting were encouraged to bring memorabilia from their institutions to share with colleagues.

At the 1998 annual conference in Callaway Gardens, GA, the SACCR Executive Board presented its first "Edith Carter's Service Award" to Dr. Edith Carter of Radford University to recognize her for over a quarter century services and leadership. Along with this award, Dr. Carter also received a life-time SACCR membership.

The 1999 annual conference, which was held at the Sheraton Waterside Hotel in Norfolk, Virginia, marked the first time that SACCR received corporate sponsorship. SCT Corporation provided partial financial support for the keynote address by Dr. James Morrison, Professor of Education at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. Dr. Morrison also led a half-day workshop on "Teaching, Learning, and Research in 21st Century Community Colleges." One of the entertainment highlights of the conference was a dinner cruise in the Norfolk harbor aboard the American Rover, a magnificent 135-foot topsail schooner.

Elvis visited the 2000 annual conference at Whispering Woods Hotel & Conference Center in Olive Branch, MS. At least, the man entertaining at the Sunday evening reception looked and sounded a lot like Elvis! Retiring AACC president David Pierce gave an overview of community college history and mission, as well as the outlook for the new millenium.. Two former governors, William F. Winter of Mississippi and Robert Scott of North Carolina, also addressed the members.

Historically, the programs for these conferences have been well planned and have provided many opportunities for professional growth and development. Over the years the elected program Chairs have continued to further the tradition of developing quality programs. The meetings provide ample opportunity for membership participation, along with invited speakers who excel in their field to provide perspectives on current community college issues. SACCR is the only regional organization devoted explicitly to community college issues. "This is the best conference I've attended" is a comment heard year after year from new and returning members.

The organization continues to grow as a regional community college association through the loyalty and support of the members, a good communication process, and the work of the officers who give generously of their time to the association.
