I. The meeting was called to order at 2:40p

II. Reports:

Jeanne Natali reported on ILC/Int'l Ed week redux:

- International Education Week – student worker designed the programming for the week. Created a week worth of activities around the theme of immigration and refugee resettlement. Because of this success, the student worker asked to continue designing soft programs.
- Discussion of GILC getting more involved in ILC programming for International Education Week. It runs Monday – Thursday, so it would be four programming days. The week takes place in November. So, the GILC would want to begin now to begin planning for programming next year (e.g. budgeting, speakers, etc). It would be good to see GILC take ownership of the week – perhaps as a subcommittee. It's up to the discretion of the committee how they'd want to design it. *This could align with the Intercultural programming subcommittee that has already been established.

III. Subcommittees:

Diversity and Inclusion (Jennifer Valentine, Manisha Trivedi)

- This is on the VP agenda. Jeanne will attend a meeting scheduled for next week (12/3-12/7) to determine when the self-study will move forward.
- Chesapeake is underrepresented on this committee, so it may be worth reaching out specifically to those members, as well as to the members of the D&I task force.

Development of ILC / int'l certificate (Jennifer Valentine, Jessica Lynam)

Ideas include:

- Previously, the subcommittee brainstormed an Intercultural learning certificate. That work stopped when TCC moved towards Pathways.
- Opportunities for students to actively engage intercultural learning in the community to “gamify” intercultural learning, giving students a physical souvenir or token. Engage social media to bring awareness to the activities.

Intercultural programming (Paul Lasakow, Manisha Trivedi)

- No report.

Fulbright Group Projects grant proposal (Jessica Lynam, Manisha Trivedi)

- Jessica is working with Betsy Foushee in OG&SP, along with Manisha Trivedi to construct the narrative. Hoping for it to be ready by March, so it is ready to submit in time. Jessica invites anyone who has interest to email her to be added to her list, she is willing to share the draft of the narrative.

IV. New Business: Potlatch

- Bill provided proposal for potlach program next year (along with notes via Jim Roberts)
- The idea is to build on the Native tradition of sharing resources, by asking instructors to bring media to share with each other. Hoping for more GILC participation. If it doesn't pan out that GILC participates, it may be better to make it a Business project, rather than GILC.
- Stresses importance of GILC contribution.
- Questions include: what will a submission look like? What are some examples of a tool that could be included? An item a faculty member might bring?

V. Office of Institutional Effectiveness: Performance Based Funding Metrics: Curt Aasen and Kim Bovee attended the meeting to go over performance based funding metrics, goal setting and planning.

IV. Adjournment: The meeting adjourned at 4:44p. The next meeting is scheduled for Jan 22, 2019, 2:30-4 (Room 602 Green Administration Bldg)
